

Celebrating a century of safety

This is a significant year for Kidde Safety as we mark a century of working to make the world a better and safer place.

Over the last 100 years we have focused on using innovation to create the technology you need to protect your property and the people you love.

We're extremely proud to have reached this major milestone in our journey and history, having delivered a century of safety.

We're proud of our past, proud of our people and most of all, we're proud to protect.

We're also very proud of our loyal customers, who continue choose Kidde because of our reputation for reliability, quality and high standards.

Proud of our pioneering history

The Kidde Company was founded in 1917 by safety pioneer Walter Kidde. Walter was a visionary of his time, revolutionizing fire safety in the shipping industry through the introduction of carbon dioxide-based extinguishers.

Since then, Kidde has grown from a small, family-run business to the multi-national company we know, trust and love today.

Walter Kidde's inspirational pioneering spirit continues to live on through the company and Kidde has earned a proven reputation for protection and success, with our products leading in the safety and protection markets around the globe.

Proud of our people

At Kidde, our people are our greatest asset. From our innovators to our administrators, everyone at Kidde has one mission - to protect.

Our loyal and dedicated staff members share our values and are focused on delivering the technology that enables you to protect the people you love and the things that are important to you.

Proud to protect

We're extremely proud that thousands of UK customers continue choose Kidde above our competitors, thanks to our strong reputation for safety, reliability and value.

In the UK, we offer a full range of home safety devices, from smoke alarms to home security cameras, and we're especially proud that our carbon monoxide alarms are considered to be the very best money can buy.

We're also hugely committed to the work we do to educate the communities we serve, especially within schools, because we believe that education is the best route to safety and protection.

Our next chapter

This century milestone offers us an opportunity to look forward to what the next 100 years might bring for Kidde.

In the words of our President, Jim Ward: "The rich legacy of our life-saving mission combined with the tremendous support of our dedicated employees is what makes us strong today, and what will make us even stronger as we begin our next century of protecting people and property."

Our future mission is to continue to grow and innovate while providing ongoing educational support to communities, partners and the public.

We could not be where we are today without the support of our loyal customers, and we sincerely thank you.

We can't wait for our next chapter and we hope you'll be there alongside us for the journey, trusting Kidde to keep your world safe.

A Century of Fire Safety

1917 - 2017 Celebrating our 100th year of saving lives